TITLE:	Unreasonable Complainants and Correspondents Policy
---------------	---

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY:
An effective police complaints and correspondence system must be visible and accessible to all. Complainants and correspondents have the right to be heard, understood and respected, as do the Nottinghamshire Office of the Police and Crime Commissioner staff (staff), who must make sure all complaints and correspondence is considered fairly. In a small number of cases, people pursue their complaints and correspondence in a way that is unacceptable. They may behave unacceptably, be unreasonably persistent in their contact, or make unreasonable demands. This can have an impact on the health and safety of staff. The aim of this policy is to deal fairly, transparently and properly with unreasonably persistent complainants and correspondents and unreasonable complainant and correspondent behaviour while making sure all relevant complaints are investigated and resolved and all relevant correspondence is reviewed without other service users being unfairly or unreasonably disadvantaged. It will also help staff supporting the Commissioner to understand what is expected of them, what options for action are available, and who can authorise these actions.
