TITLE:	VRU Funding for PhD Candidate
---------------	-------------------------------

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY:
The Violence Reduction Unit seek approval to utilise £36,436 (over a three year period) from the VRU budget to match fund a PhD candidate to undertake a multi-methods PhD research programme focussed on disproportionality and serious youth violence.

INFORMATION IN SUPPORT OF DECISION: (eg report or business case)
The proposal was supported by members of the Strategic Violence Reduction Board in June 2022, pending formal approval by the PCC, CEO and CFO. The Violence Reduction Unit, facilitated by the OPCC, has an important system change role, and is committed to research and action to enable organisational and system-wide leadership to address the causes and differential impacts of serious violence across local communities. Building on nationally available research, including the 2017 Lammy Review, this multi-methods research PhD programme would be designed to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Explore how individual risk factors are experienced within a wider social context of disadvantage and structural racism, including an understanding of the ‘transmission’ of discrimination • Understand how the evidence on patterns of disproportionality and associated policy recommendations are being recognised and understood by senior leaders within organisations and system leaders, and the organisational approaches to gathering further information on the needs and preferences of the communities concerned. • Identify barriers in addressing disproportionality in the criminal justice system and apply learning from other disciplines on cultural and transformational change that could be applied to support progress in Nottingham and Nottinghamshire • Develop an understanding of the various forms of success in addressing disproportionality and how these are perceived, recognised, and measured within the
