Nottinghamshire
POLICE & CRIME
COMMISSIONER

Keeping track of how we are doing helps us to tackle crime more effectively.

Telling me your experiences of policing is crucial for me to make your voice count.

The monitoring and recording of outcomes also helps me to hold the Chief Constable to account for police performance on your behalf.

This year I am increasing the measurement of improvements to performance. Information like this helps us to see more clearly what's working and what's not – and where changes are necessary.

What sort of changes?

Already, I have put more emphasis on preventing crime and have been working with the Chief Constable to see how we can put more emphasis on:

- Management of high volume offenders
- Anti-social behaviour in neighbourhoods and towns
- Rural and wildlife crime
- Speeding and road safety
- Shoplifting and retail crime
- Treatment, not arrest, for those with mental health problems.

Updated Nottinghamshire POLICE & CRIME PLAN 2014 - 2018

MARCH 2014

Building on progress for safer communities

Revitalising my goals

In this second year of my Police and Crime Plan I have revitalised my goals for a safer Nottinghamshire – building on progress and putting greater emphasis on crime prevention and support for victims

Police officers and staff, volunteers, our partners and communities have worked hard to improve your safety and confidence. Their efforts – and your views on how we can improve – have helped me to identify what we still need to do.

Clearly, you want to be safe in your homes and streets. You want a police force you can trust to be available when needed, and you want value for money policing that focuses on bobbies, not buildings.

To help achieve that, this year you will see:

- Better police and PCSO visibility on the street
- Fairer treatment of victims through our new Code of Practice
- More joint work with regional forces and partners to improve efficiency

Working Together Today and Tomorrow

The police cannot tackle crime and public safety alone. That's why we will continue to build on the strengths of partnership and joined-up multi-agency working, and share expertise and resources locally, regionally and nationally.

All this helps to cut crime. But I will continue lobbying the Government for more money for policing to keep you safe.

What we've done already

Despite continuing financial challenges, careful spending has allowed us to deliver £3m to local partnerships for community safety and victims' services. I have already funded:

- Work to tackle anti-social behaviour and disorder
- Recruitment of extra police officers and PCSOs
- Research into repeat domestic violence, victims and BME communities.

Other milestones included:

- Setting up a fresh approach to tackling alcohol misuse through closer working across different organisations.
- Working with my Deputy Chris Cutland to expand support services for domestic violence victims.

Focusing on our Priorities

Our consultation and engagement exercises have helped to confirm that the seven top priorities in my Plan – which I identified with your help on my election – should remain the same but include priority crime types in No 3.

1. Protect, support and respond to victims, witnesses and vulnerable people
2. Improve the efficiency, accessibility and effectiveness of the criminal justice process
3. Focus on priority crime types and those local areas that are most affected by crime and anti-social behaviour
4. Reduce the impact of drugs and alcohol on levels of crime and antisocial behaviour
5. Reduce the threat from organised crime
6. Prevention, early intervention and reduction in reoffending
7. Spending your money wisely
